EDITORIAL

Dear DIGUNA friends,

the title of this edition of Africa News is 'paths of trust in God'. This is not a new topic for us. For decades, we have experienced how crucial genuine trust in God is – and how God blesses this trust in him. Time and again, we see how He intervenes with His power, opens doors and writes history in amazing ways.

The new year also presents us with the challenge and privilege of trusting God completely. As the DIGUNA leadership team, together with our staff, we are aware that we depend on Him in all areas: in the success of our various projects and mission trips and assignments, in recruiting short- and long-term staff, and last but not least in our financial provision. We know that when God builds, His work endures and grows.

We have a lot planned for this year. We are expecting an Africa team to visit Germany, which will travel to churches to report on what God is doing in Africa. There is news from our missionaries in Chad, reports from our radio work, plans to build a church in previously unreached areas, and much more. God is at work – and we marvel at what He is giving us. You, dear friends, are an indispensable part of this work. Through your prayers, your encouragement, your financial support and the sharing of our concerns, you are helping people in Africa to hear the Good News of Jesus Christ. We thank you from the bottom of our hearts. I wish you God's rich blessings as you read this Africa News.

WHAT WILL MOVE US IN 2026

at Diguna

In the following article, Simon Hocker, Dennis Jung, Wilson Mwangi, Ines Mutali and Benjamin Manthi report on their experiences, challenges and visions for the current year. It becomes clear how God is advancing His work across continents: through evangelistic campaigns in remote regions of Uganda and Kenya, leadership training and prison ministries, new steps in Chad, and innovative radio work among unreached people groups. It is about venturing into unknown territory, intercultural cooperation and equipping local churches. Despite challenges, the staff experience God's guidance and provision – and follow the calling to reach people with the gospel and strengthen them in their faith.

AS WE LOOK AHEAD TO THE YEAR 2026, WE LIVE IN CONSCIOUS TRUST IN THE LORD.

Faith in motion

Over fifty years ago, the first DIGUNA missionaries (then still known as the 'Congo Team') set out from Europe to Africa to bring God's Word to remote countries. With courage, faith and old trucks from the German Armed Forces, they followed God's call. Joyful trumpet playing gathered people together in marketplaces. Creative proclamation of the Word with local interpreters led people to Jesus. From these courageous beginnings, the DIGUNA mission organisation was born. Missionary work is not a one-way street. This year, we are once again privileged to see African Christians coming to minister to us in Germany – to proclaim the Gospel in our churches. In May, we warmly welcome our A(frica) team. With their special flair and lively rhythm, the seven brothers and sisters from East Africa will enrich our churches and be on assignment throughout Germany for two months. It is a special concern of ours to inspire people for the kingdom of God and to active discipleship. God's mandate knows no boundaries. Our faith is on the move – across continents. In Romans 10:14b we read: "And they cannot believe unless they hear the message. But they cannot hear unless they are called."

Back then and today, it is our heartfelt desire to reach people with the gospel. How wonderful it is when intercultural cooperation on equal terms is possible.

God prepares the way

"For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works, which God prepared beforehand, that we should walk in them." Ephesians 2:10

As the Arua team, we are currently experiencing this: God is preparing our way and we are able to take steps forward in faith. In addition to our weekly prison ministry with the Emmaus courses, evangelistic outreaches are a focus of our work. We are currently working on what these will look like in concrete terms, what goals we will pursue, and how the follow-up work will be organised. Our main partner is the Anglican Church in Uganda. Together with Pastor Isaac and Grace Fellowship Church, we have found further opportunities to carry out outreach. These include week-long mission trips to remote areas such as Rigbo on the Nile. Over five days, we teach, discuss topics of discipleship and evangelise together. In January, we were able to successfully implement this concept: with a group of men, we worked on the basics of hermeneutics and the topic of 'biblical manhood'. We would like to continue this concept in April and the fall of 2026.

In many congregations, we observe a lack of sound teaching and basic biblical understanding. Frustration and a lack of unity mark some churches. That is why, together with the mission coordinator of the Anglican Church and a missionary named Brook, we would like to offer more two- to three-day training courses and seminars for church leaders on topics such as church planting, Bible study and charity. The goal is to strengthen and equip leaders with limited training and little access to resources. In the Arua team, we also want to consciously live out discipleship by cultivating joint Bible study, further training and fellowship. It is only on a stable foundation that we can be a blessing to others. Pray with us that God will help us to realign ourselves in 2026 and move forward in faith with our eyes fixed on Jesus.

God cares

It is a privilege to see how the Lord has led the cross-station outreaches to unreached people. Our young people are very excited about the experiences they have had during these outreaches. At an evaluation meeting for an outreach among the Ogiek, a short-termer from Germany said: „This mission gave me a real sense of mission. Working at the DIGUNA station wasn't bad either, but it was a special opportunity to visit people in their homes, on the streets and in the markets, to share the gospel and to see them give their lives to Jesus. It was fulfilling and I would like to do it more often. Please consider me for future missions before my time here ends.“ The cross-station mission trips brought a new approach to DIGUNA's work among unreached people. A Bible school intern, also from Germany, told me that the investments DIGUNA makes in vehicles and other resources are worth the effort we put in. It is no secret that there are still many unreached people groups. God has given us opportunities to continue bringing the gospel to them.

We are planning two outreaches in northern Kenya in the coming months. One will take place among the Pokot in the Silale Valley, the other among the Samburu, a Maasai sub-tribe. In Pokot, we plan to build a church and a mission house. We are convinced that this will be a long-term investment in effectively reaching this community. We are truly grateful to God for faithfully providing finances and wonderful teams from our three large stations in Kenya. We always need teams that are both technically skilled and mission-minded, from Kenya and abroad. Our stations are doing their best, and I am always grateful to God for this support.

Venturing into something new

Since 2017, we, Simon and Deborah Hocker, have been working in Moundou, Chad. Two years ago, we travelled to Abéché (north-east) for the first time, to a region that was still unknown to us – a Chad that we had never seen before. After much deliberation and prayer, we decided to leave the south of the Chad and to live and we are planning to move in April 2026. There will be some challenges, e.g. we will have to learn Chadian Arabic, as French will not get us very far there and it is a culture shaped by Islam. What exactly we will do there will become clear in our first year, during which we want to devote ourselves to learning Chadian Arabic and the culture. The verses from Isaiah 43:18-19 particularly appealed to us to dare to do something new:

Do not remember the former things, nor consider the things of old. For behold, I am doing a new thing; now it springs forth, do you not perceive it? I will make a way in the wilderness and rivers in the desert.

We were able to hand over the brass band work to Asael, and the work of the mobile Bible school will also be continued by two Chadian pastors. We will continue to support the radio work and are excited about new radio stations. God has a new path for us, and He will clear the way despite all challenges so that we can be witnesses to the living water, Jesus Christ.

God leads into new territories

As we look ahead to 2026, the radio spectrum seems more important than ever. When it comes to radio ministry, we are motivated by the question of what will guide and advance us this year. The answer lies not in major technological advances, but in consciously trusting in the Lord's ways as His Spirit leads us to enable unreached people groups in Africa to turn on a radio and hear the gospel of Jesus Christ in a way and in a language they can understand.

The Sakuye

We are determined to walk through the doors that God opens to reach the Sakuye people living in the Dabel area of Marsabit County in northern Kenya – a vast region that is considered 99.9% unreached and characterised by rough terrain and difficult-to-access roads. But radio waves penetrate all these barriers. We look forward to erecting a transmission tower powered by solar energy and a diesel generator and launching the first FM broadcast within the Sakuye community.

God's Word

As we build the transmission towers, we think about the listeners and what they will hear. We want to ensure that we accompany them with the Word of God and help them learn how to spend their personal time with God by providing daily 5- to 30-minute programmes from Genesis to Revelation that repeatedly refer to Scripture and the cross – the hope of eternal life.

Expanding digital discipleship

Looking to the future of 'digital discipleship' beyond traditional radio, our radio partners are breaking new ground in online broadcasting, podcasting and social media to reach the next generation with biblical truths and various topics, including mental health in our hectic and challenging times.

Beyond towers

When planning any radio project in Africa, we are guided by the words: "Trust in the Lord with all your heart, and lean not on your own understanding." We are experiencing how God is leading us into new areas – to people who have never heard the gospel – and at the same time into a deeper dependence on Him. We may never have an answer to every challenge we face, but radio ministry is not primarily about transmission towers; it is about bringing people's hearts closer to the Lord.

TESTIMONIES FROM EVERYDAY MISSIONARY LIFE

At the end of 2024, I joined DIGUNA with a single goal in mind: my passion for cars. However, God had other plans for my life. While I assumed I would spend my days under the bonnet, I quickly fell in love with a different kind of 'restoration' – working with children and young people. Today, this interest has developed into a deep-rooted passion for working with children and young people. I am truly grateful for the mentors I have found here. Their guidance has shaped me, sharpened my leadership skills, deepened my spiritual life and sparked my interest in studying theology in the future. As I look to the future, I pray that God will continue to use me as His instrument. I want to continue to devote myself to both my work as a mechanic and my work with young people in schools, rehabilitation centres, and slums. It is a privilege to serve and devote myself to the task God has entrusted to me.

Gerald Onyango

Mbagathi station*

I was born and raised in a Christian family. Today, I have the privilege of working at the Mbagathi Mission Station. I serve in the laundry department, in children's ministry, in evangelism outreach, and in prison ministry. In the past, my faith often felt like a routine. I attended church services, but I didn't have a clear goal and thought that serving was only for leaders. The turning point came when I was allowed to participate in Diguna Discipleship Training (DDT). There I learned what it means to serve and began to tell children about Christ. I consciously said 'yes' to God. Working with children is particularly fulfilling for me. Their faith strengthens my relationship with God. At DIGUNA, I found a spiritual family. I experience appreciation, support and encouragement to grow. Today, I find fulfilment in serving the next generation – to the glory of God.

AND YOU SHALL BE MY WITNESSES...

... in Jerusalem and throughout Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth.

These words of Jesus from Acts 1:8 still inspire us today to reach the people of western Kenya with God's love in a holistic way.

On the road for the job

To do this, we need reliable vehicles. However, our fleet is so outdated that in recent years it has become increasingly difficult to travel beyond Jerusalem to the 'ends of the earth'. In addition, our lorries were not granted new licences to transport people on the flatbed (despite the installation of seats, but only with tarpaulin). But none of this could deter us from our mission and our passion, and some of our team members travelled to assignments by public transport. Last year, God answered our prayers and since December we have had 'Joshua', a new, military-tested four-wheel drive lorry with a custom-built body. In addition, we are hoping for further donations to purchase a new Land Cruiser this year to relieve the 'Queen' (our last reliable G-Benz). This would put us in a better position for our daily services, but above all for our primary target group in the area of evangelism: the unreached people groups (at the 'end of the world') such as the Pokot and their neighbours.

Our "Jerusalem"

Work in our 'Jerusalem' (in and around Tinderet) is also progressing steadily. Our junior school is currently being expanded with a new building. Unfortunately, many good teachers are drawn to public schools and we have a high turnover of teachers. James Ouko took over the management of our vocational school again last year after completing his studies and is working with our team to ensure that our 'Poly' can compete with other schools even without government support. Currently, around 150 young people complete their two- or three-year training in seven skilled trades each year. Since January, we have had to increase school fees, and we hope that God will continue to provide finances so that students from poor backgrounds can also learn a trade with us and grow in their relationship with Jesus.

Be a witness

Our employees are and remain the most important resource for our evangelistic and practical work in the workshops. We are grateful that God continues to provide us with short-term and long-term team members from Germany and Kenya. Nevertheless, we pray earnestly that more people will be called to long-term service of two years or more, and we are very happy that Dario and Veronika

Pohl with Hannes will soon be joining us as long-term team members to be witnesses of God's love – from Tinderet to the 'end of the world'.

Major changes are also in store for the children's home.

TEAM MEMBERS UPDATE

We are very grateful that over the past weeks and months new Co-workers have been called to work with Diguna.

My name is Andreas Reichmann.

I am married to Anne; together we have four children and five grandchildren. We live in Bermoll, about 25 km from Haiger. I have been associated with DIGUNA since 1988, when I had the opportunity to work in the workshop for six weeks before leaving with the German Missionary Doctors Team for two years in Arua, Uganda.

This time has left a lasting impact on my heart for Africa.

After my return, I worked for various companies, but Africa never left my thoughts. The desire to be part of a mission team once again has remained..

Today, I am delighted to be responsible for occupational safety at DIGUNA and to look after our long-term co-workers.

The following co-workers have opted for a short-term assignment at DIGUNA. Many thanks for this.

DAY BY DAY WITH GOD'S HELP

When we arrived in Arua in April 2024, our goal was to support the local team and contribute our gifts. We knew that we would eventually take over the management temporarily.

However, we first wanted to arrive, listen, learn and simply work alongside. But things turned out differently on site: after only four weeks, we were asked to take over responsibility for the station. Several experienced team members were unavailable for the next few months, so we were suddenly on our own – shocked and with great respect for the task ahead. The people, culture, technical processes at the station and spiritual programmes were still unfamiliar to us; there was no comprehensive orientation. As if these circumstances were not enough, we both had serious accidents that put us out of action for several days. Questions arose: Should we really stay or would it be better to return to our previous place of assignment in Ngechek? Would we be able to manage the next two years and continue the work without much experience and without knowing the local people well? And yet we knew for sure: God had called us to Arua. He would not leave us alone. So we made a conscious decision to stay, accept the challenge and rely entirely on God's help. Jesus says in John 15:5, '... for without me you can do nothing.' With this certainty, we were able to continue.

EXPERIENCED WITH GOD

Looking back on our time in Arua, we can only thank God. These were the most difficult months of our lives – and at the same time a period in which we experienced God's faithfulness and care in a new way.

Gradually, relationships grew. God used us to accompany people in their faith – in everyday life, in our interactions with one another. We are also grateful for the people He placed by our side: prayer support, encouragement from afar, local missionaries and our mentor from Germany. Through all of this, we became very aware that without God's help, day after day, we could have done nothing. We surrendered ourselves completely into God's hands and learned to trust Him to give us new strength and wisdom every day.

UPDATES FROM THE MINISTRIES

ARU/CONGO

We are grateful for all the successes and God's protection during the trip taken by Klemens, Bienvenu and Alois at the end of last year. They visited the RTK radio stations in Bunia, Isiro and Dungu, as well as the new relay station in Kagabe, which is still under construction. A valuable exchange took place with evangelist Simamoke in Isiro and the various radio teams. Klemens and Simamoke also had the opportunity to visit Jacques Anidunamo from the former DIGUNA team in Bogoro, who passed away shortly afterwards. He was part of a team of local missionaries in northern Congo. In Aru, Kazele and Katembo from the DIGUNA MEMA project in Nairobi visited us at the beginning of January. Both are native Congolese and were able to establish valuable contacts, especially with music schools. Ideas were exchanged regarding the future of DIGUNA in Aru. Please pray with us for wisdom and that co-workers will be called whom Jesus wants to use for his Purpose.

ARUA/UGANDA

At the field council meeting in February, Kizza Dickson was officially appointed as station leader. We are grateful that he is taking on this responsible position. In the coming years, we want to carry out discipleship programmes in addition to evangelism and, for now we want to focus on certain areas in the West Nile region for an extended period of time. In January, a week-long Bible school programme for young men took place for the first time, which will be continued in the coming months. Despite the small number of participants, it was an intense and blessed time. The hunger and interest in God's Word, but personal challenges and family responsibilities seem to be preventing the young men from participating. So overall, it takes a lot of prayer, wisdom and patience to recognise God's guidance in our plans. In February, we carried out an evangelism campaign with the 'Power Partner' group. In addition to showing the Jesus film and evangelising at the market, we were also able to hold seminars on various topics in the church. At the end of April, Dennis and Vanessa will return to Germany.

HAIGER/ DEUTSCHLAND

The year began with JUMIKO in Stuttgart, which provided opportunities for numerous discussions and new contacts. Andreas Reichmann joined our team in November 2025. He provides valuable support and is a great blessing. We are particularly pleased to welcome the married couple and Jens Thielmann. They are currently preparing for their service in Africa, which includes Swahili lessons in addition to content-related and organisational topics. The introductory week and information seminar in January were well attended and, in addition to providing a wealth of information, offered space for exchange, questions, and personal interactions. Any uncertainties were clarified and the new termers can now depart well prepared. In terms of logistics, we are still dealing with the container, as there are still challenges with the necessary documents. However, the processes are progressing step by step. The donation receipts for 2025 have been sent out. Thanks to a generous donation of wood, we got through the winter well, and a new makes work in the workshop easier. At ► the same time, preparations for the A-Team continue. We are very grateful for all these developments.

LODWAR/KENYA

In December, we held another week-long holiday camp for the children in our TCCP orphan project. It was a great opportunity to teach the children about Jesus and encourage them. The school results of our TCCP children exceeded our expectations this time around. Many of them have been attending good secondary schools since January. We are very grateful for this. Before Christmas, we distributed food parcels to widows and the poorest people in ten communities. For many, being able to eat their fill is not a matter of course. Stephen Kilel and his experienced team also managed to build a church in Lokichar in December. This continues our tradition of building at least one church in Turkana every year. For the fourth time, we organised a Christmas party for the street children of Lodwar. 300 children came and were given God's Word, good food and clothing. The Nakuluja Primary School, which we built between 1999 and 2000 and which is administered by the church, is unfortunately in a leadership crisis. We are praying for a turn for the better.

LOPIT/ SOUTH SUDAN

At the beginning of the year, the village leaders meet with the villagers on 'Otulu Day' to discuss plans for the new year. Dominik was also invited to say a few words. He took the opportunity to communicate DIGUNA's vision and mission in the Lopit Mountains. In recent months, there have been repeated conflicts with villagers because their expectations of the mission (e.g. transport, water supply, petrol sales) have not been met. It remains challenging to deal wisely with these different wishes from the village. At the DIGUNA station, Dominik was able to install a new solar power system. Now there is enough electricity for living quarters and the workshop. Siggie Eppler was a great help with renovation and repair work for four weeks in January. Rahel's medical work often challenges her professionally and emotionally to her limits. At the same time, it opens up good conversations, the trust of the people and thus the opportunity to proclaim the gospel.

MBAGATHI/KENYA

We had a good start to the year. Our opening seminar began with the topic of 'Spiritual Development,' a fundamental Christian teaching that helps people grow spiritually. We also held a retreat for school leavers, which gave the young people a good start to life outside school. Later, two mission trips took place. One of them was a cross-station trip to the Ogiek community with a focus on evangelism and discipleship. The second trip included school visits in Mombasa. There we visited primary and secondary schools and also conducted church programmes in the host church. At the station, we are working to integrate new Kenyan staff members through training and mentoring in various areas of work. The induction is led by the respective department heads. Our weekly school outreach programmes have also begun. In mid-February, we hosted the DIGUNA Field Council, which required extensive preparations.

MOUNDOU/ TSCHAD

Since our return in November, we have been busy preparing for the move. Our lorry was badly rusted, so we dismantled it, removed the rust and repainted it. We are glad that nothing was rusted through. At the beginning of January, our partner churches EET celebrated their 100th anniversary. It was a big celebration with many people, and the brass band performed every day. There was great enthusiasm for brass music, and we have received many requests to train new groups. Furthermore, various transports are scheduled. We want to transport a container to the brass band in Béré so that they have a good storage place for their instruments and a place to practise. We want to bring two of our containers to Ab-éché before the move. Maren, our teaching assistant, has been holding children's classes once a week since January and is teaching three local children to read.

NGECHEK/KENYA

We are doing well; God has been faithful in everything. Our ninth graders achieved very good results last year, which enabled them to attend good secondary schools. This year, we were again able to welcome many new students to our school. We thank God for His care. In December, the children from our home went on holiday. The Saina family remained at the station to look after the three children who had stayed behind for health or other reasons. In the second week of January, a powerful seminar on 'Overcoming Storms in Life' was held, led by Jeremiah Doll from the Tinderet station. A small team took part in the inter-station mission in Ogiek, Nakuru County. Another small 'impact' team went to Marigat to set up a two-room container house for a person who will take care of the grounds and containers.

TINDERET/KENYA

We started the new year feeling encouraged after our kick-off seminar and were able to begin our first evangelism outreach in the surrounding area the following week. This was followed by a cross-station outreach in mid-January, and further outreaches are planned. The calendar is well filled again this year, and we are also expecting several groups of visitors. A very big answer to prayer is a new truck, which will enable us to travel to remote areas again. Our old off-road vehicles remain another prayer request. We were able to start with many new students at the vocational school. A continuing concern is finding more sponsors who are willing to support the students. All children from our children's homes returned safely after the Christmas holidays, and we are grateful that for the first time, tenth grade is possible at our school. The results of our children in the graduating class are very good, and we were able to send them to good secondary schools. We were able to retain four Kenyans from our team after their probationary period. David and Whitney Nyongesa joined as a married couple, and Lettings are planning to stay in their home country from May onwards.

ARU (CONGO)

Please pray for our DIGUNA station in Congo. We are in urgent need of a team of long-termers who can continue to run the station in the future. As a result, there is currently a lot of upheaval and change, and various decisions will have to be made in the coming months. We would be grateful if you would pray for strength and wisdom in this process, as well as for a team of new long-termers and that we may experience God's clear guidance in everything.

A-TEAM

From May to July, a team of seven African DIGUNA co-workers is scheduled to come to Germany and talk about their home countries and mission work in local churches. Let us pray that the preparations for this visit go well, especially that everything works out with the visas so that the entire team can arrive as planned.

Thank you for praying with us!
